Intergovernmental Personnel Act Vacancy

DIRECTORATE FOR GEOSCIENCES DIVISION OF EARTH SCIENCES ARLINGTON, VA 22230

ANNOUNCEMENT NUMBER: E20010198-IPA

OPEN: 06/11/01

CLOSE: UNTIL FILLED

The National Science Foundation (NSF) is seeking qualified candidates for the position of Program Director for the Hydrologic Program, Research Grants Section, Division of Earth Sciences, Directorate for Geosciences. The Division of Earth Sciences provides support for scientists in the U.S. colleges and universities and other non-profit institutions for the conduct of research aimed at an improved understanding of the earth's structure, properties, processes, and evolution, including basic research in areas of practical importance. The Hydrologic Sciences Program supports activities aimed at a rigorous and quantitative understanding of the earth's hydrologic cycle and the role of water on and near the continental surfaces of the earth. This program covers a wide range of areas relating to water in the form of precipitation, lakes, streams, and groundwater, and their interactions with landforms, the atmosphere, the biosphere, and the earth's crust.

Initial assignments under the IPA mechanism may be made for a period of one to two years, and may be extended for a third year. Individuals eligible for an IPA assignment include employees of State and local government agencies, institutions of higher education, Indian tribal governments, federally funded research and development centers and qualified non-profit organizations involved in public management in instances where such assignments would be of mutual benefit to the organizations involved. The individual remains an employee of the home institution and cost-sharing arrangements are generally negotiated between NSF and the home institution. Annual salary ranges from $74,697 to $116,414.

STATEMENT OF DUTIES: The incumbent is responsible for long-range planning and budget development for the areas of science represented by the program, the administration of the merit review process and proposal recommendations, the preparation of press releases, feature articles and material describing advances in the research supported, and coordination and liaison with other programs in NSF, other Federal agencies and organizations.

- Maintains a healthy balance of support for all the needs of the research and education enterprise either through program, division, directorate, Foundation, or interagency activities.
- Manages program resources so as to provide optimal appropriate scientific judgment to insure integrity and consistency in the grant/declination process without conflict-of-interests, and with balance among appropriate sub-fields and institutions, and participation of all qualified scientists. Incorporates cross-directorate responsibilities into program administration.
- Manages an effective, timely merit review process, with attention to increasing the size and quality of the reviewer pools and insuring participation by women, minorities and disabled scientists.

- Provides scientific expertise, evaluation and advice for other programs in NSF, including international programs, other research programs, and cross-directorate programs.
- Advises and assists in the development of short and long-range plans, establishing goals and objectives for research programs. Plans the budget for the program/programs considering past, present and future fiscal years, allocates resources within that budget distributing scarce resources among major competitive programs, and manages post-award evaluation.
- Controls waste, fraud and abuse.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED: Applicants must have a Ph.D. or its equivalent in earth science or related field, plus six or more years of successful research, research administration, and/or managerial experience pertinent to the position.

HOW TO APPLY: Individuals interested in an IPA assignment should submit a curriculum vitae or resume, publication list, and a letter referencing qualifications choice to the National Science Foundation, Division of Human Resource Management, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230, Attn: E20010198-IPA. In addition you are asked to complete and submit the attached Applicant Survey form. Submission of this form is voluntary and will not affect your application for employment.
